

Inspired Living Feng Shui

Hello & Welcome

If you are looking into Feng Shui, hopefully life is buzzing along wonderfully, you want to anchor that good energy and invite in even more!

Or perhaps something isn't working so well and you're looking for guidance and support to help you shift into something better.

It could be one thing that's bothering you, like your relationship is on thin ice, or your creativity has dried up. Or it could be several things, like your career isn't going so well, so your finances are a bit challenged, so you're working extra long hours, so you don't have time to create your new business or write your book, and your spouse wants more time, and the kids need you, and friends are like, "where did she go?"

It's all connected, like a web. When one area of our life is weakened, it affects all areas of life.

Maybe you've tried several therapies and modalities to try to fix these problems, but that isn't sticking, either. You've tried to pray, manifest, and attract the solutions into your life. And that is GREAT! I'm a prayer, manifestor, and attractor myself.

Unless you know the core issues that are affecting your thinking, which is then affecting your behavior, it may not get better. The healing process is ... well... a process, and we have to take it one baby step at a time.

I'm glad your steps have led you here to the ancient principles of Feng Shui.

I like to think of Feng Shui as acupuncture for the home. Once we get the chi flowing again around you, you will feel better. And when you feel better, you will have more energy to access your creativity, open to new opportunities, communicate more clearly, create more time for family and friends, and so much more!

Curing Your Space with Feng Shui

After my analysis of your floor plan, I will share many Feng Shui cures to uplift the energy in the space and to open the flow so that your environment supports you in your best life.

Cures may include moving the furniture for the most efficient and effective use of the space, guidance on when to and when not to remodel, choosing paint colors for the highest vibration of the room, re-purposing furnishings from one room to another, clarifying energies in artwork and where they will best raise the vibration of the home, specific esoteric Feng Shui cures like crystals may be used to enhance the energy in the space, removing the clutter, getting organized, and finally, balancing the energies of your space with the constructive flow of the five elements – water, wood, fire, earth, metal.

The Mystical Three Secrets Reinforcements

Learn how to set your intention, and then activate your cures using prayer and Three Secretes Reinforcement practice.

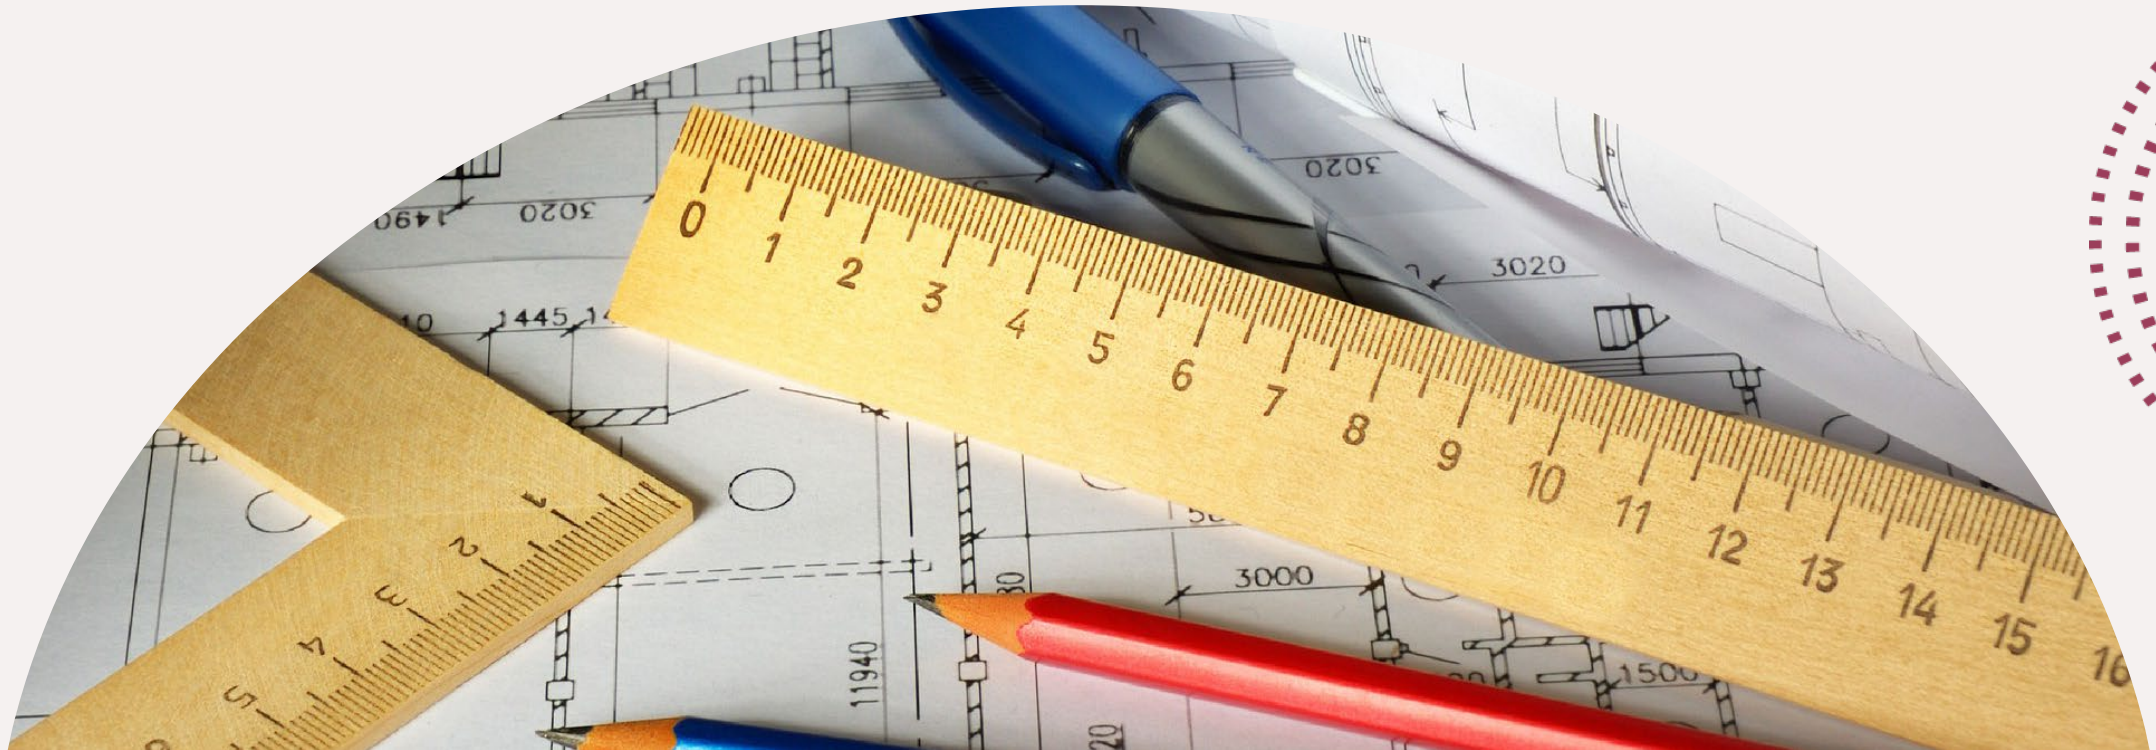

Sketch Your Floor Plan

I will need a sketch of the floor plan of your home. If there is more than one level, please put each level on a separate piece of paper. Label rooms, add furniture, add in details like stairs and the stove, and bathrooms, etc. If the garage is attached to the home, please include it.

I will also need an aerial view of the house on the property lot, to see where the streets are and the driveway. A Google Satellite picture works great.

Complete the Questionnaire

Click this LINK to download The New Client Questionnaire and Contract. For your convenience, and mine, it is a word document so you may type right into the boxes, which will expand as you type. Please share as much as you need to express yourself. There are no right or wrong answers, just share with me how you are in this moment in life. If you are sharing this experience with a spouse or significant other, you may complete it together, or separately. Save the document and email it back to me at inspiredlivingfengshui@gmail.com.

Take Pictures of Your Space

For long distance Zoom clients only, the camera will be my eyes! I ask for pictures (or a video) with at least two angles of each room in the home/office.

One angle should be of the room while you are standing in the door facing into the room. The other angle should be from the opposite direction, standing in the room facing back toward the door. I do not need close ups but a full scope of the room if possible.

I'll also need to see the outside of the house, both the front and back. And pictures from the house into the front and back yards (if applicable).

For local/onsite clients, I will see and be in your space during our in-person session, so no images are needed.

It sounds like a lot of work, but it's quite easy these days with the magic of a smart phone. Send the pictures to me via email or any sharing service that allows you to send big files. Email to inspiredlivingfengshui@gmail.com

The Red Envelope Tradition

The Red Envelope Tradition dates back thousands of years to the beginning of time, when Feng Shui was first practice to find the best placement to bury the dead for their best after life. Eventually Feng Shui was brought into the home, to balance a square space with the dynamic and grace filled flow of nature.

The client gifted a red envelope with money to the Feng Shui master, to ritualize, respect and honor the wisdom given. It was a gift, to acknowledge the exchange of this sacred information between client and practitioner. The Feng Shui master was paid before the service was offered thus creating an opening of acceptance within the client's heart, preparing them to receive the healing or awakening.

Even as a modern-day Feng Shui Practitioner I practice this tradition and, in addition to my session fee, I ask each client to prepare, 9 Red Envelopes with a coin in each (any coin), to pay homage to the sacred lineage and to bow to all the teachers who have brought this wisdom forth. The weight and power of money is an equal energetic exchange to the weight and power of this ancient knowledge. You are welcome to place the session fee into a tenth red envelope for good luck.

For long distance clients only, I ask that the 9 Red Envelopes and coins be mailed and received prior to our scheduled appointment date/time. For local clients, please have your envelopes ready for our scheduled session. Mail envelopes to 2510 S. Lafayette Street, Denver, CO 80210

I see clients all over this great big beautiful world!

With the technology of Zoom, I can share these ancient practices with you anywhere in the world. It is just like being in person as the camera becomes my eyes. Images are cast out into space and brought right back onto your screen with the touch of a button.

I will share my screen, so we are looking at the floor plan together as we create a space that supports you in all ways.

Scheduling, Deposit, Payment, Cancellations

I schedule out about a month, with the occasional earlier opening. This gives you plenty of time to prepare your floor plan and complete your questionnaire.

Deposit, Payment, Cancellations

The deposit of $400 for a Home/Office Consultation, or $800 for the Master VIP Consultation, is due when we schedule your appointment, and is nonrefundable if you cancel within two weeks from our scheduled time. If you need to reschedule, please do so in a timely fashion. Your deposit will be applied toward your session fee.

Payment of my service is due the day before our session begins.

Pay Pal offers Payment Plans

Pay Pal offers six months of interest free credit. I send you the invoice for the total amount, Pay Pal pays me, and you make payments to Pay Pal for six months. Interest free!

Blessings & Ceremonies

At the end of the Questionnaire and Contract you will see a list of ceremonies and blessings. You do not need to prepare anything for ceremony at this time.

If I see something in the floor plan that requires additional preparation for a blessing, I will let you know. Should you wish for ceremony only, and sometimes that is all we need to clear the energy and get it flowing again, my rate is: $200/hour.

With Gratitude!

I so look forward to supporting you with the ancient principles of Feng Shui. A quick email to say that you have received this email and paperwork would be appreciated.

Thank you!
